In the mid-19th century, King Ludwig I of Bavaria chose to build a residence in Aschaffenburg, and after your walking tour introduces you to the town's many charms, you will understand why. King Ludwig's passion for the ancient world led him to build a perfect replica of a Roman house, the Pompeianum, next to Aschaffenburg's Johannisburg Castle, one of Germany's grandest Renaissance palace complexes. Explore the magnificent Mediterranean landscape surrounding the Pompeianum and castle before heading back to your ship. (BB, L, D)

Birthplace of Albrecht Dürer and famous for its pocket watches, Nuremberg was also home to the astounding post-WWII War Crimes Trials. After your city tour, during which you'll take in Kaiserburg Castle and the famous town wall with its towers, you will visit Nuremberg's historic Hesperides Gardens, which boast Italian-style planting.
